EEA and Norway Grants 2014-2021

The rule of law and well-functioning judicial systems are fundamental building blocks for democratic societies. Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway support programmes to strengthen the rule of law, help police to address cross-border crime and empower communities.

The programme will be implemented through:

Beneficiary States

EEA and Norway Grants

Open calls for proposals

Pre-defined projects

Why support the rule of law?

The police, the prosecuting and the judiciary services play an important role in guaranteeing basic human rights and freedoms, as well as protection from violence and discrimination. Investments, trade and economic growth rely on a sound, predictable and transparent legal environment.

What is supported?

An independent and capable judicial system based on justice and human rights principles, efficient procedures and transparent judicial decisions contributes to increased public trust in the judicial systems in Europe. The EEA and Norway Grants' support in this sector includes:

- Improving the efficiency of the judiciary
- Training judges, lawyers and prosecutors on the European Convention of Human Rights
- Improving the capacity of law enforcement agencies to investigate and prosecute cases of organised crime, including trafficking
- Strengthening cooperation between national and international law enforcement authorities
- Strengthening the justice chain – the cooperation between judicial institutions
- Strengthened cooperation between civil society and the judicial system, for example through legal aid projects, child friendly justice and the rights of minorities

Where we work

Effectiveness and efficiency of the judicial system, strengthening rule of law and international police cooperation and combating crime programmes are available in eight Beneficiary States.

	EEA Grants	Norway Grants	Total
Bulgaria	-	22.8	22.8
Croatia	-	13.2	13.2
Czech Republic	-	6.9	6.9
Latvia	15.5	-	15.5
Lithuania	8.0	5.8	13.8
Poland	-	9.1	9.1

Stronger police cooperation between Romania and Norway:

Close international cooperation is crucial when fighting human trafficking and criminal groups travelling from one place to another. With support through the Grants, 25 Romanian police officers participated in joint operational missions in Norway where they assisted Norwegian police in the combatting of crime committed by Romanian nationals. In addition, more than 500 police officers participated in joint workshops on counteracting organised crime and strengthening intelligence and strategic analysis.
