Building a stronger civil society in Europe
This photo brochure presents a snapshot of just a few of the many hundreds of projects supported by the NGO programmes funded by Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway through the EEA Grants.
Civil society is a fundamental building block of democratic governance, human rights and social cohesion.

Our support plays a critical role in building the capacity of the sector. It also helps to counter negative trends across Europe, such as rising discrimination and racism and a growing mistrust in democratic institutions.

Our support is focused on:
• Strengthening democracy and active citizenship
• Promoting human rights and equality
• Promoting inclusive societies where people are valued, their differences respected, and their basic needs are met

Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway contribute close to €160 million to strengthen civil society through NGO programmes established in the 16 beneficiary countries of the EEA and Norway Grants.

We are a strategic partner to the Council of Europe’s NO HATE SPEECH campaign. The campaign is against expressions of hate speech online in all forms, including those that most affect young people, such as cyber-bullying and cyber-hate.

Through raising awareness of hate speech online and its risks for democracy, the campaign aims to support young people in standing up for human rights and promote media and internet literacy.

Our NGO programmes are making a strong contribution to the campaign, which was launched in March 2013 and runs until the end of 2015. All programmes have been involved in various ways – mobilising and training youth activists and youth bloggers, mapping hate speech online and organising campaigning toolkits for schools.
