Development and evaluation of projects during the ‘IdeaLab’ workshop

The ‘IdeaLab’ workshop brings together participants selected in the previous stage, with the director and mentors (expert panel) with cross-disciplinary expertise. Collaborative projects are developed by cross-disciplinary participants seeking to find radical new solutions to existing and future challenges to society in areas where collaboration between different relevant actors is hindered.

The participation of experts shall ensure that the projects involve ground-breaking ideas, facilitating discussions, challenging the solutions and ideas presented by the participants, and advising and commenting the results. The aim of the event is to develop project ideas by the selected participants.

Project evaluation and selection are embedded in the ‘IdeaLab’ workshop procedure. The project proposals are submitted at the end of the workshop to international peer evaluation conducted by the director and mentors (expert panel). Proposals shall be selected on the basis of the selection criteria and scoring in accordance with the provisions of the Guideline for Research Programmes. In the initial phase of the evaluation each expert works individually and gives scores and comments for each criterion. Once all the experts have completed their individual assessments, the evaluation progresses to a consensus assessment, representing their common views. The outcome of the consensus step is the consensus report, approved by all experts. Scores and comments are set out in the consensus report. The list of the assessment of project ideas is available at the end of the workshop.
